PERSONAL PROJECT

Weather App

I built a weather web application that provides real-time weather conditions for different locations around the world. The application is designed with a user-friendly interface using HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. It allows users to enter a city or place and view current weather data, including temperature, humidity, wind speed, and weather conditions. The app fetches live weather updates from an API, ensuring accurate and up-to-date information.

Amazon clone

Built a fully responsive Amazon clone using HTML and CSS, featuring a navigation bar, product listings, and promotional banners. Focused on creating a user-friendly and visually appealing interface. Demonstrated expertise in web design and front-end development. Implemented clean code and optimized layout for various screen sizes.
